

#1 - Sally: Requesting that I seek her permission to publish something as simple as an update to the shred page, telling me I did it wrong, backtracking, then trying to call me to further discuss something that doesn't require yet another meeting to soother her nervous system.

one moment Jess let me find out.

Sally Carrona 9:13 AM Edited
Jess Salcedo you have a ticket number?
I can't see it in the current sprint
Somehow the sprint released and all those in progress tickets went Umm, okay.

Sally Carrona 9:18 AM
I will look in the way back machine for an example, I think it is hard to read the way it is

#2 - Sally: Checking in for the millionth time to ensure we're ready to launch at 8:00am on 7/1. Because the multiple weekly meetings to check in aren't enough proof that we got this handled.

Liz: Constantly barking orders and pulling rank, then requesting unnecessary meetings when it would just be easier for her to make the update since she's already in there.

<https://digitalcreditunion.atlassian.net/browse/ENBLMT-5295>

oops, did I miss that conference meeting. I was trying to minimize the documentation and didn't even see it until now. My time, back to you in a tick. Let's get this ticket closed.
